AN AGGRAVATED ASSAULT. - A man named Willis, a very quiet and inoffert. No funeral. sive man, came into town yesterday from Bullionville, for the first time in several months. He had no sooner alighted from the stage than an unprovoked as-suilt was made upon him by one Thomas Williams, alias "Tommy the Head-maker," alias "Lonfer Tommy." Mr. Willis made complaint and caused Tommy's arrest. Tommy, like a good citizen, pleaded guilty, and Justice Stoutenburgh

He is represented as a Montana hoodlum, and is a hard case. tioned contains the two boilers which tioned contains the two boilers which supply steam for the engines in the main building. These boilers are 4 feet in diameter and 14 feet long, and are heated by a fuel-saving process, not only knew new to Floche, but also to the world. The scientific principle upon which the process rests is the decomposition of water when passed through a red hot iron tabe in the form of vapor. A certain amount of steam passes through an inch pipe into the furuace, where it goes into a worn of heavy iron pipe heated to about 900 degrees Fahrenheit or 500 centigrade. The steam is here decomposed into its elements, oxygen and hydrogen, which pass out through an inch pipe and then rush with a tremendous torce into the furuace, which was not through an inch pipe and then rush with a tremendous torce into the furuace, which was not been to the devil fragrant with the breath stored to the control of the Chinese Secret Tribunal.
